Meet JOLENE

Workplace Culture Whisperer | Connection Revolutionist | Wall Street Journal Bestselling Author

Dr. Jolene Church is not your typical leadership expert. Dubbed “the workplace culture whisperer,” she helps leaders ditch the superhero cape and show up with heart, humanity, and bold authenticity. Her mission? To ignite a Connection Revolution—one where people feel truly valued, seen, and heard in the workplace and beyond.

From the New Kid to Culture Catalyst

Jolene changed schools 33 times growing up. That experience taught her how to read a room, adapt quickly, and connect deeply—but it also showed her the emotional cost of constantly hiding who you are to fit in. That’s why today, she helps others break free from the pressure to conform and instead lead from the truth of who they are.

Leadership with Heart, Strategy with Soul

Jolene is a master certified coach, a former HR director and university professor, and the author of eight books, including the Wall Street Journal bestseller, How to Write and Publish a Book in 30 Days. Her dynamic keynotes and trainings blend vulnerable storytelling, cutting-edge research, and real-world strategy to help leaders build trust, banish burnout, and cultivate thriving cultures grounded in empathy and purpose.

Global Impact, Real Results

From Fortune 500 companies and federal agencies to nonprofits and startups, Dr. Church has helped thousands of leaders step into their power without sacrificing their humanity. Whether in boardrooms, on conference stages, or leading outdoor leadership adventures in Ilha Grande, Brazil, she inspires transformation with every step.

Signature Keynote: Ditch the Superhero Cape

In her most-requested keynote, Ditch the Superhero Cape: Unleashing Your Authentic Leadership Superpowers, Jolene challenges audiences to reimagine leadership—less performance, more presence. She shares powerful tools to overcome imposter syndrome, lead with vulnerability, and connect through courage.
